Warning: Chioma U., Olamide A., Elizabeth P., Daniel A. and Ejiofor J. have padded profiles: fake big-brand employers (Nike, McKinsey, Hilton), a quoted "review" that doesn't exist on the profile, and hundreds of near-identical portfolio items. They win small jobs, but Elizabeth's JSS has already fallen to 77. Don't copy that part.

4. Title patterns to copy

1. Most common formula: Role | Platforms | Niche or result. For example: "Short-Form Video Editor | Reels, TikTok & YouTube Shorts".
2. Use the exact search words. "Short-Form Video Editor", "TikTok", "Reels" and "YouTube Shorts" are what clients type. 24 of the 25 top profiles have "Video Editor" in their title.
3. Add one niche to stand out. Sports (Isaac), dental clinics (Oubaid), wellness brands (Nawwal), real estate (Hammad), podcasts (Fahad, Ali R.), talking-head (Paula, Abdullah) and personal brands (Emmanuel O.).
4. High earners add a result: "Ads That Actually Convert", "High-Retention", "Scroll-Stopping", "Get Sales".
5. No top profile puts "CapCut", "Premiere", "viral" or "captions" in the title. These go in the skills list and overview. The one exception is Alexandro, who ranked #4 for "CapCut editor" with "Premiere & CapCut" in his title.
